Administration staying active

Motivation Monday

Visit www.wscschools.org for information and updates on the district’s response to COVID-19.

Superintendent Matthew Bystrak shares a message with students learning at home — Read.

With your parents’ permission, take photos of yourself reading books, drawing, writing, playing an instrument, or whatever you’re working on, in your new at-home learning space so teachers can see that you’re continuing to learn.

Bystrak said teachers want students to be actively engaged in the learning process by regularly checking in with teachers, asking questions when you have questions and trying your best. No one expects perfection.

“I think we’re all going to be surprised by the new and creative ideas stemming from this digital learning experience that our whole society is engaged in right now,” Bystrak said.

If you get bored, Bystrak said to visit the district website https://www.wscschools.org/ to read the school’s mission statement regarding students being capable of adapting to change.

Watch the video on YouTube https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=PEPnkJBRDU and share photos with us of your new learning environment on Facebook or Twitter.

Stay safe, be kind, and read.

Food service workers continue to work tirelessly to ensure that students in the West Seneca Central School District receive nutritious meals each weekday during the school closure.

During the Coronavirus pandemic, CSEA members from the West Seneca School District Unit are preparing and delivering more than 1,300 meals each day to deserving families.

During the Coronavirus pandemic, CSEA members are preparing and delivering more than 1,300 meals each day to deserving families.

Watch the full video on YouTube https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=o7N6ZsCt9BE&app=desktop.

Superintendent Bystrak’s message, April 1, 2020

Three West Seneca Board of Education members have been recognized by the Erie County Association of School Boards for the Medallion Club Award.

Mary Busse, Janice Dalbo and Carol Jarczyk each have earned the qualifications for this award from their service to the West Seneca Central School District and attending programs throughout the year, serving as a member of the Delegate Assembly Team, the Budget and Finance Team, the Legislative Committee or the Executive Board, and attending the annual Law Conference.

Carol Jarczyk, Mary Busse, Janice Dalbo