

THE LIBRARY @ ES

Librarian : Mrs. Michele Pava Library Clerk : Mrs. Gerardi

FREE

Libraries are filled with free books to ENJOY but now, we also have free books to KEEP! Since our Summer Reading Rover (our traveling book mobile of free materials that visits area parks each summer) was cancelled, we are happy to announce that instead of leaving those books in boxes until the world gets back to normal, we are giving them away!! If you are in-person, feel free to stop in to the library. If you are remote, visit the LMC website to see a complete list.

Quantities are limited and will be shared on a first-come basis.

Contact the LMC (contact info on Pg 3) with any questions.

That's how you know it's a keeper!

PUBLIC DOMAIN DAY 2021

What does it mean when a book (or music or artwork) is in the PUBLIC DOMAIN? Creative works, much like other inventions, are protected from copying. But this does not last forever. And once those protections expire, the work enters what is called the Public Domain. That means, it can be used without paying anything to the creator or owner. You could even print your own copies and sell them!

So, what's the big deal for 2021? Well - two things.

#1 - When Mickey Mouse was going to enter the public domain, a new Act was created in Congress that added 20 years to all copyright protections. So, it wasn't until last year that any work was released for 20 years!

#2 - These new works are from 1925 - the cultural richness of the Harlem Renaissance was in full swing, the world was creating songs, writing, and art to reflect our involvement in World War 1, and there were true innovations in our literary culture.

There is also an EXTENSIVE list of works new to the public domain found on the same website.
